The Immature

The immature conceptions, they must be expressed
Because they are the reason, why you are so stressed

The pressure from the undone, cannot leave your mind
Unless you let them out now, the demons to be kind

They make you seek temptations, that fill a corrupt need
That really makes your soul cry, and heart in center bleed

As you will feel sick, in relation to your age
Holding all inside, while activate the rage

The mind will make up stories, on why this is to be
But that is not the truth now, step aside and see

That you when you where younger, did not make status quo
And that is all perception, not really part of the show

The role that you must play now, is being who you are
That is very tough on you, open infected scar

So tell your story, tell the world
But try not to condemn

Because this will only add more crap
And you'll have to go back again

Over and over until you learn, that you must let it go
So let the demons leave your system, to them you must say no

What they do is damage, in your social life
Because you'll react instead of respond, like using guns & knife

When you're ready and drained of fear, you will be at peace
To mother, father, sister, brother. Cousin, aunt & niece

We are all a family despite our origin
You can't live a happy life with underlying sin

So go to trial you must not do in 3D world of flesh
You just have to talk to God, that'll keep you fresh!

Stand up strong! Yeah you must, but first you must become that
That is truly impossible, with a dead bunny in your hat

Don't play tricks on yourself, that is only brakes
Get it out and ventilate before it is too late

You don't want to vomit all, the seconds before you die
All because you refused to be humble, and momentarily cry

A life of sorrow deep within will not attract your win
Throw that idea completely away, right inside the bin

Trash is cheap yeah sure it is, your life is what you'll miss
If you stay with horns and tail, you yourself you diss

Dismiss all that what talks against, you flying to the moon
And pretty shortly in the big perspective, you'll be airborne soon

Away to meet your destiny, that's been waiting there for you
Stop acting like you didn't know. Like you hadn't had a clue

Magnify the positive and shrink the negative
To live in joy and prosperity? Yeah that's a way to live!

I am not talking about the cars or house, I'm talking kids and spouse
Love is what you're looking for, not a stiffy bore

So be a little funky dance around, drop all shit on ground
And listen to your hearts own song, listen to that sound

This is not so technical, not so calculated
Forgive yourself for everything

Say sorry I kept you waited
