

zero point energy

This is in the galactic center.

This is the origin of everything as it is created from nothing.

We cannot create anything new from anything existing.

That would mean from something "old" or pre-existing.

So something new has to originate from zero.

From darkness.

From thin air.

From mom.

From Mary.

Lars Rosenblad - PGD in Intergalactriatics

Congratulations! It's a human.

Wow thank you!

Who's God then?