

DIE 2 WHAT WATT?

Subconscious

DEATH ROW

RECORDS

Of Conviction

transmutation.se

We are all on death row

But is your boat heading towards something better
Or are you rowing yourself 2 serotonin doom

To be absolutely convinced in a conviction.

It begins with a belief that eventually becomes so convincing that you are all of a sudden either a convict or a new covenant.

What you state will be your freedom as you keep stating positive convictions or you talk about what is negative and you become a prisoner of the state.

The state is as manifestation of your continuous dialogue and if that states something rigid, tensed and not in motion you are stuck in life.

If you do that often enough and fight to become free you will eventually be so stuck that it becomes a reality in the form of locked up in a penitentiary.

So you have to die.

It is inevitable and the natural way of life which is always flowing and always changing.

So what is it that you have to die in relation to if you wish to be free?
You have to die to the new.

You have to have something new to absolutely wanna die for.

Or else you will manifest the most negative experience possible which is a physical death and life is over. Even if you get out of prison you will be taken care of in circumstances that reflect your doomsday convictions.

You need to die to yourself and create your salvation.

You do that in co-creation with God as you keep stating what you want instead of what you keep telling yourself will never happen. You need to be able to see something better for yourself. And keep stating constructive things about yourself.

With absolute certainty in relation to not knowing when or how you have to believe that it's true. And this will kill you in a positive way as you will die to who you thought you were and be reborn to the one you are destined to be.

All of this is chemical and the mind & body will get notified as to become tensed or relaxed depending on what you keep stating.

A prisoner of the state is a prisoner of A STATE.

That's an absolute certainty.

A very strong belief.

Not given up.

Which is very positive in a positive state of mind.

But becomes destructive and kills you in a negative state of mind.

Subconscious conviction that projects out from your perception and gets reflected back to you as a physical manifestation.

Just like 2pac.

What made him end up in prison with Suge getting him out of there under the agreement that he'd make those albums was 2pac himself with a very strong mind in a negative subconscious conviction.

And he continued with this in a strong expression which is all about energy until he got killed because he asked for it. That's the truth.

He might have said something else but he kept on convincing himself that he was doomed and destined to die.

That's also destiny.

He called upon his destiny of destruction and co-created with God who is connected to everything and everyone and made it all happen.

Why did he do that?

Well..

Exactly the same way as Jesus did it.

They both where done.

They checked out from this human experience and called upon the angel of death.

With each thought and emotion they rowed their boat off a cliff and crashed against a rock that killed them instantly. That's a manifestation of a strong effect.

A strong belief and a strong subconscious conviction in lack of humility coming from somebody behaving like a martyr.

To walk around the earth thinking and feeling you're all that with an attitude that no-one understands you but you are so amazing will eventually kill you.

What you die to is your choice.

You can either die to your state of completion or you can die to release yourself from a state of fear in becoming more.

And stop trying to tell everyone that this is the end of the road for me as the world fails to get it. Everyone else seems to fail to get it.

That's a lesson they share which is all about them.

To stop being the finished product and to release themselves from condemnation.

You can always call upon the angel of mercy instead.

And forgive yourself for what you have created in destruction and state what you wish to happen in a positive rowing taken you from "lost at sea" to "Hey! I see the shore and the land of the free!"

But that won't happen if you're done.

All that?

To fry in hell fire can happen as you shine the light on what is dark inside you.

Watt is that?

You become honest and true in relation to what is actually going on inside you and stop bitchin'.

Or else you will suffer the consequences of a great condensed energy that goes straight in your head in the electric chair in prison, or you will suffer a heart attack because either way you asked for it.

That's how prayer works.

All from your state of continuously repeating thoughts and emotions of either success or distress. The alarm most go off but it doesn't have to be the sound after your last meal that says:

ALL CLEAR! In relation to people getting out of the way from the electric chair or the cardiopulmonary resuscitation machine.

You can resurrect yourself as you stand strong and you stand firm in your positive convictions!

And keep praying to the angel of mercy asking for forgiveness.

Coming from your background with all these negative convictions that almost killed you physically you eventually die to the old you and shine as the new!

That's a lot of watts!

What has made me learn about this and started my own transformation has been many teachers and teachings. What can you make of watt is going on as you see things for watt they are using your intuition which is you feel for them.

And you take that back into your own ability to call bullshit.
And do something about it before it's too late.

Because it will become too late at a certain/serotonin point.

And maybe you will get a second chance if God decides you do?

You actually get as many chances you want but you need to act upon those and not take anything for granted.

All the while you keep stating what you want.

That's a positive energy that eventually becomes your subconscious conviction shining on the darkness to a degree that you radiate and reverberate out into the cosmos and you will receive a reflection of that.

Something wonderful and spectacular!

And you can see that happening inside you, you entertain yourself with dreams and visions of living more. Of a more colorful and happy life!

Not entertaining more and more steel with perhaps just the one color that everybody is covered in except their head.

Orange is a beautiful color!

You can truly appreciate orange in the green landscape which is all about natural contrast. But it's not as beautiful against something all grey.

It has to stem from something.

Something with green light.

Did you know that a color is something that is being absorbed by light?

And the other colors are being reflected back!

So when you see someone that is close to black they are actually absorbing as much light as possible! That is fact!

Which means that they are very special in terms of receiving Gods love.

And they have an opportunity to create marvelous things as they are coming from a positive conviction inside themselves. They are actually a surface of love absorption in a larger degree than someone who is light skinned.

But has been mistreated in jealousy instead of celebration.

That is something that becomes a great confusion and has become what I think is why they have been fighting with themselves for so long.

Who wouldn't?

You are so loving and so beautiful put on this earth to make an impact greater than anyone else in a positive energy. With great effect! Max Watt!

And are able to do so if you change your mind and transform.

Fill that out instead of your registered personal items as you get locked up in prison.

Fill that from.

Fill yourself with what is true and thou shall die.

To the convictions that you are less than and bullied and living as a martyr.

Because that will kill you physically.

And the same goes for everyone else.

Die to your negative convictions and resurrect from the ashes of hell fire raising yourself to the heavens in how wonderful, magical and astounding you are as a human being.

God says you are fantastic!

God is the supreme source of creation and is made up of 100% pure loving energy.

Why not trust in that?

Why not enroll with that?

Roll with God!

And you will cherish and not perish.

Row row row your boat gentle cross the stream
Merely merely merely merely live is but a dream

You dream your way to success or fatality.

Life is a dream.

You are your own life.

You are the dream.

So maintain a dream come true as you become and stay that way, true that is.

Nightmares are not kool.

They are terrible.

Maintain that and you'll live a terrible life.

It's not that hard to see.

You create everything you wish.

But but but.. I didn't wish for..

Yes you did.

Call your own bullshit.

Yes there has been circumstance and yes you've been thru things.

But watt about now?

They aren't still around are they?

Or maybe they are?

Well, you still have to do and say great things for and about yourself.

To change your perception.

That is the fundamentals of transformation.

Which ultimately becomes a transmutation when you are done!

Watt wait a minute!!??

You said you could never be done and be in a state of completion.

Haha.

You are done as in changing your mind.

From negative to positive.

Now you continue to develop but without any ball & chain stuck to your feet.

That's way more satisfying and fun.

It might not be all dandy and easy?

But it won't be like a living hell.

It will be challenging in a different perspective in positive spirit all together.
And that is not so demanding on you as you now work for love without resistance.

Resist the arrest?

Well. That's all about you trying to escape your responsibility to become true.

To confess to God which is all about you.

You can't hide from yourself.

If you try to do that.

You will fry.

You will suffer the consequences watt ever they may be.

Just the same as you will reap your success in watt ever that may be.

Reap what you saw.

As you believe your inner visions of a better day.

Or fear the reaper coming to end your life existence.

All is a matter of subconscious convictions that makes for your perception which is all under your control if you make the choice to confess, take responsibility and change. To transform everything speaking against you and keep stating all that is true about yourself.

And God will answer the call of success.