

YOU UNIVERSE

+++ J E T P A C K +++

SEE
(GOD)

TRUE

WE HELP!

SIRIUSLY!
+

EVERYTHING IS CONNECTED
YOU CAN TELL ME ANYTHING
(SELF)

Freedom!

Attraction
+++
Dream.. desire..

WHAT REALLY IZ MY NEXT MOVE?

New apartment? New House? New City? Change Bedroom? What?

Your next move is always and forever to become inspired. That's the primary in all of your movement as everything is soul intention. So you need to be connected as in being open to what comes. That's not a thought process. You do NOT work that out. It's coming to a place of surrender in the moment yet not in submission being sorry feeling defeated. It's more about finding the groove of being in love which is non-conceptual. Unconditional. Which translates into being at peace feeling good not giving a shit. Resting assured in things working out for themselves as you stay in faith. Which is your connection to receiving what you perceive as positive. As you are positively connected. You still receive anyway. All the time. But might perceive it differently depending on where you at?

So what is my next right move as of where I am emotionally in general? Objectively looking at my own existence in peace and calm. That's God mode.

No fight. No judgement. No punishment. No nothing. Non-conceptual. Not material. Like even a single dot. Nothing. Yet everything. At your disposal.

With a will to become more of who you iz.. In joy. Feeling good. Enough.

But wish to become more as to inspire and lead in the name of love..

That's all good!

So what do I need as of right now, today? What can I understand more of and what can I share as to make that a reality? And then I trust! I have faith. I do not get frustrated for a split second as I'm not able to receive right now. I let it come. From perhaps a walk outside. Who knows.. Just live open.

Listen..

A human beings greatest fear is to be alone. Because that becomes the rational equivalent of being unwanted and thus not loved. Undesirable. And what you wish is for your desires to become a reality. Now how on earth will this happen if you do not desire yourself from the core of your being? Hence the self correction of being alone as to come to that core foundation of self love. The root desire of desiring yourself and your own life.

That's not Ego.

That's just self appreciation. For who you iz just as you iz.

Loneliness becomes solitude.

You need to be in good company alone. But that's only the foundation of self appreciation. Then comes the connection in desiring more. Which is all about love from a true core. That makes you desire more from a healthy position of no position at all really. As this is not material but instead spiritual all emotionally stable and secure as to be with yourself in peace.

Which is actually having fun with yourself!

Like writing something like this or painting or making some music or cooking or whatever.. But God almighty that's so much more giving (rewarding) & receiving together with someone. Someone you feel connected to in all relaxation and trust. A very loving friendship stemming from your personal relationship with yourself.

That actually takes care of the Ego part in a negative aspect because you ain't got so much need for attention as to validate yourself in all honesty. You take care of that yourself. But like attention very much from a healthy foundation. Ain't nothing wrong with that! Look at me! I am a loving human being! I wish to be a part of a world like that so that when I meet you I can see you without filtering that experience so much thru me and my personal identity.

Most people are thinking about what they are gonna say in conversations rather than just listening to what others have to say. That's Ego. That's negative in relation to connection because it's a bit of a robbery when it comes to circulating love. This is not a competition and nobody will reward you for this but yourself in perceiving yourself as a present compassionate human being. All in relation to yourself. And you manifest in all honesty or not depending on your own clear self image of true nature or not. So try it..

Try to talk to someone with complete attention in relation to what they wish to share. The mind might dig up some reference as to share with them telling them that you have some idea as of what they are talking about, but you don't have to.. You can just let them share. That's very rewarding and also a practice in letting someone else for a moment get all the attention and space just to be seen and heard.. That's beautiful. Imagine someone giving you that.

We are intuitive beings and feel stress in energy contradictions.

So..

We always know. And when the Ego fight begins like 'wow they are talking so much about themselves' let them.. Allow for it. In that tension and struggle is actually your Ego wanting to take up space to be seen and heard. Don't get mad at yourself in this but just don't feed that stressed energy of negative attention all from a need to be "on top" of another painting.

Growing up I was taught that you out loud people as to be affirmed. Talk louder and strike points.. That's terrible. It kills all connection and becomes two Ego's lost in darkness. Nobody being affirmed emotionally, humane. Nobody being seen or heard.

When I got to a certain age I said to my mom in all peace:

Imagine that there is an interviewer listening to us two, there is only one microphone and we can only talk as the microphone is pointed at us alone. When that microphone is pointed at the other we listen as this is not the time for us to speak or engage in an answer but to be present and experience what is being shared in the now.

For me this is a good way to see things. The Ego has a lot to prove. The soul has none. God will not intervene and kill. The divine happens in perfect orchestration. So try to let things be more of a beautiful symphony. One thing to keep in mind is that every single interaction is divine. It comes with guidance and teachings correcting everything to be on time. A thought of 'my next reply' in the middle of someone's shared story is not on time.

All love at its maximum is right here and now. IN the moment.

If you find that to be an effort of some sort, full of tension as to focus really hard is actually you being controlled by the thinking mind. It's all you baby..

And this gets worse and will affect all communication which is secondary in relation to another human being. Everything is primary in relation to you. So the problem here is to be humble enough and look at your own conductivity within yourself and how you actually dialogue in relation to you.

I am sitting on the floor right now with a cup of tea and some pillows. Do you ever lay down on the floor? Do you ever just lay down doing nothing?

Like watching the clouds on a summer day. But inside yourself?

If you do that are you getting tensed and restless?

That's lack of self control. Which cannot be created. And that's why it doesn't get any better from doing that. You find it in allowing for it. Like a 🧒🧒 kid.

If you hear sounds that irritate you listen to them as if they were branches breaking in the forest. You won't get mad at those. You accept them as a part of nature. You can practice that with all sounds. Because that's all they are. Sounds..

It's your association with them that cause an emotional reaction bringing tension in something defined as unwanted. Undesirable. Just like thoughts and emotions within you speaking against you. That get fed in your refusal to allow for them to be heard. Making you the interviewer of objective participation but also with emotional engagement as you are human bringing emotions of either this or that to be seen/heard/felt and released in not judging them at all.

That's like a combination of all I just wrote behaving free inside yourself as a personal therapist wishing for love to become the most of what we experience.

No rush..

Just allow for whatever is going on.. When justifications come in relation to these emotions try to come back to being the impartial interviewer. Like the kindergarten teacher of clarity, nonjudgemental & compassionate awareness wishing for both the emotional and rational to come together. And they will when there is no competition. When the intention is to come together.

That happens as soon as all let go.. When all resistance which is self created drops.. 💧 🌂 💕 ..

What you desire must come from a core foundation of desiring yourself in love. When a personality speaks against that you transform that personality. In humility. And love returns..It seems. But that really not true.

It was you preventing love to come, resisting it in misconception of peace and love being something we create.. We are so good at doing so many things. We create this and that but you know what.. Love just is.

That's you connecting to your heart and just feeling love..

Saying I love you, Saying thank you

Don't toughen up all tensed trying to achieve self love. That's destined to fail as it will not be true to love being all giving without questioning. All from you communicating that to yourself. Don't judge.

Find rest in being OK just as you is..

And in that space. Without a fight and a struggle. You will find it cozy and a snuggle.. Ask from that space.. What is my next right move?

I've heard stories of people in great frustration walking down the street like 'God I am sick and tired of this! Please give me a miracle! Help me now!'

..and a book get's thrown out from a window landing on their head facing a particular section on the ground giving a message of what they need to hear.

True story.

You get what you give. You get what you need. What you need is where you're at. So the closer you come to self realization the more of a fine tuning it will be. And the response given is all from your own communication as this is you in all honesty being ready for that or not. You cannot lie about this. You know..

The most clear answer. The best direction of divine guidance is found with the least amount of opposition which is doubt in yourself. The more clear it becomes the more obvious yet simple it is which for the rational mind becomes dismissed as it's all about more and more complexity as to be of value and authenticity. But that's all to reinforce itself. Yet that drops in a healthy loyal environment because they mind lets go of control as it experiences you doing well for yourself in an honest, compassionate and relaxed conductivity of positivity.

Which gives you the most clear answer as this will not be affected by rationality. Naturally.

The one at war will receive a rational cold answer as to kill opposition. Like taking out someone outside of you or yourself. A plan of destruction..

The one at peace will receive the opposite as to love what is understood not to be any opposition but as to be loving guidance instead. Like listening to someone and allowing for them to share what they are feeling and experiencing beginning with yourself. A plan of construction..

Check your physical status:

Are your shoulders relaxed?

Is your tummy relaxed?

Are your fingers loose, are your hands soft?

Is your neck relaxed?

Or are you in some form of defense mode?

The Ego is the only part of a human being in need of proving anything and thus protect itself from any form of attack. It will defend itself. Are you able to drop that? To see things in light, perhaps with a little sense of humour as to distance yourself just a little bit? See the cosmic humor in the situation.

That's your ticket. To success. Practice this and you won't be practicing something that requires something of you in performance eventually. You will simply be relaxed and attentive in a relaxed focus which focus actually is.

The greatest focus. True focus. Is found in relaxation. Not in tension.

You see it's all about feeling deserving, honestly. In relation to yourself. Whom knows the deal in absolute perfection all the time. Don't be phone holy.

You just add to a false self image that you will have to maintain as to be what you wish to be only in superficiality. That's a lie. Not recommended in a world of love.

You can be and do whatever you want successfully. So what is that in relation to the most rewarding for all? Humble none-ruler of existence perhaps? That's again, God mode. Everything is perfect and works itself out in the now. Which is not a material concept of time. But in letting go as to allow.

I am male but I will do this comparison anyway:

Everything is about birth. Over and over again.
The old released and the new coming to fruition.

So just as a woman goes thru intervals of nothing as much happening as when it's time to push in giving birth. So is life going with the flow of all of what's happening. When stressed, damage happens. When listening and being in tune with nature. Everything goes alright and life becomes.

That's also you in your everyday life.
Giving birth to a new you, all the time.

When giving birth to a child breathing is perhaps the most important thing of all. Which is also the most important thing of all in life. Where is your breath? Is it deep and relaxed? Is it happening by itself in a natural pace? This will relax the body. As this is communication to the cells saying that everything is alright. When you say that everything is alright and you trust nature, source, God, Love.

You are on your path.

You've just corrected yourself. Which requires you being aware and relating to yourself. In peace and not judgement.

The universe gives a universal response to this communication giving you what you need as to grow from that position which is your emotional and humane comprehension of your own experience. That's all!

You get what you give. Truly. Or not.

Practice seeing the connections of everything. Why did this happen, what was this trying to show me? What am I aspiring to become and so how can I learn from this as to actually act as that.

Self acknowledgement. True and honest in relation to self. Self creation.

Becoming.

Affirm yourself ahead of time. As to create a drive for yourself which becomes your goal that is somewhat moved ahead but benefits nonetheless from always being good enough. If you find it hard to feel good enough you've got some resistance inside you which are negative convictions speaking against you.

That's what you need to deal with in objective understanding as to forgive and release..

In all forever glorios humility. Coming to gratitude in the midst of pain as to release that negative conviction and that you simply misunderstood where you currently is.. Right here and now. But honestly not really.

Corrected.

Discard this forever and you will get an increase in frustration and pressure putting you in a correcting facility as you made yourself in to a danger in society of unpredictable reactions based on, in essence, lack of humility.

Mad?

Well.. this is your life.

The wishing well is real. Are you wishing to be well?

The more well you perceive yourself the more rewarding it will be as you begin to do well for yourself. That's success even getting up in the morning to brush your teeth. And then you build from there. Giving yourself the green card of OK and good enough as much as possible. That's doing well. For yourself.

Inside out. No doubt. Believe in love and soon you'll sprout.

If there was such a thing as a deadly flower tearing up its own roots walking around murdering all the other flowers God would put an end to that. Because all is love. So what are you? What do you truly need?

Sunshine! And water! Self care. From the inside out. When you give yourself that you also begin to give yourself that from the outside in. And always learn more. About energy which is all about investment. Don't just give away the love you have. Keep your love for the ones deserving. Everybody is worthy. It's not about that. We are equal in value which means we are equally deserving in relation to what we desire. But as you might understand now from reading this, some people don't feel deserving. And some need to be cut off. They actually need to be lonely coming to solitude as to learn themselves in relation to themselves together with God about Love. Self love. Self care. No blaming. No judgements. And then they'll show up again in life. Supporting life. Rooted in the spiritual. As actual loving humane beings. Don't feed the ungrateful animal.

It will learn to starve of love making life superficial in proving and competing.

A big destructive Ego..

What is lacking? Is humility.

Which is always right there. As love is humility and gratitude together.

But in neglect of this will have to learn in sometimes the hardest way.. Playing hard and tough makes for a tough and hard lesson. It's a mirror experience of projection / reflection all based on what you truly need always about love.

People change locations. Social circles. Workplaces. Partners. Families..

But what everybody needs is to change themselves for the better.

Which is not such a struggle and pain when you feel good enough.

So get out of hell. In self condemnation. Free yourself in the will and desire to life as much as possible. And all will be given in a humble relationship always asking for more. Of what you truly need. And it's given. Before you've even asked. As God just delivers without question.

And grow from there..

My love

*This document was financed and supported by love and love alone. Feeling fine but also in need of hugs. Because love needs love. Love can only give so much as to live in a world of shade and drought. So if you'd please be so kind as to support my Patreon? Give this document to someone you love? Share what I have created as to make for a world of love. And also do it yourself, the transformation as to self realize yourself step by step. Never done. Never finished. Just becoming more of what you is. And we will experience a beautiful world together where butter is affordable and a local bus ticket won't cost in equivalent of traveling across the country. WTF... I love you. Stay true. Be true. Always humble. Thank God for everything. Thank God for everything.. and uh..

Thank God for everything

..Hey..Ever thought about this?

I love everybody! In contrast to.. I love everyone!

When the one saying that doesn't know that sex is not love.

It becomes very deceptive in that individuals experience.

I love everybody. Sure. But asexual.

I don't love everybody like that. Every Body.

Imagine I go down on one knee as I meet the love of my life and say:

I finally found you! After all this time..

I had sex with 432 women, 3 men, 1 donkey and a sea turtle before I found you..

Am I a very loving guy then? What has been my main focus in meeting the love of my life? And what kind of connection will that be in relation to that focus of what I believe is love?

We will connect. I will meet her. She will meet me.

But not heart to heart..

We can make that work, coming to realization of love together!

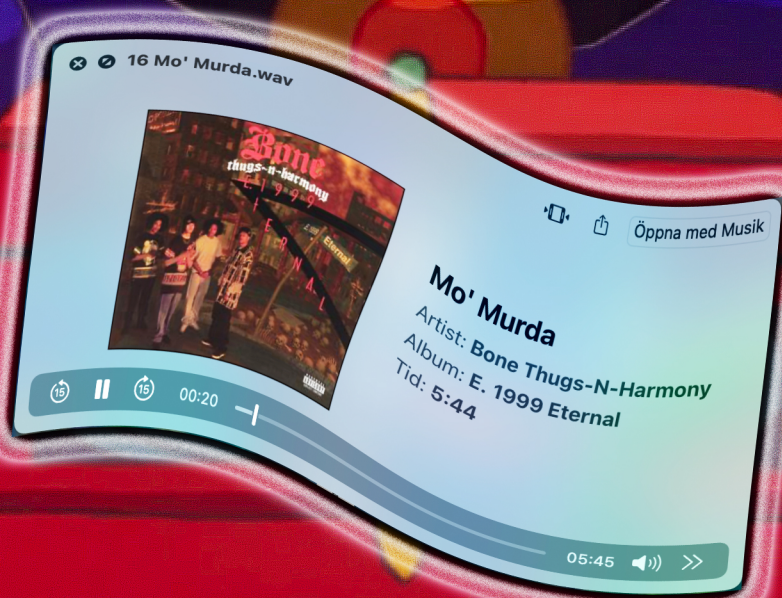

But what if I made that more clear in relation to myself before I actually perhaps did not date at all? But did all this instead?

Who will I connect with then? From what foundation? Within me as she within her..

That's love.

..and from there we can have orgies at mansions with pink cocaine taking advantage of people to soothe our sexual misconception of what satisfaction is in relation to what?.. You feel me?.. For real? You feel me?.. I feel me

A SHOT 2 DA BRAIN

Negative

DIE TO YOUR CONVICTION

KEEP DA FAITH

Slowjamz (All is test of Faith)

Are you gonna be.. co..co.co..co..co..co..co..come..

Drive slow.. Be on time.

Heng I Seng So Beng. That's Swedish = High on life.

It is possible.

Wherever you wanna go and experience is all in alignment with whom you become. Which is your choice. And along the way you will be tested as to believe so much for it you'll drop it with positive expectation. Faith. Things will become more and more what seems further away in a sense which will require you to keep the faith. Dropping it once again with positive expectation.

Like:

4 weeks ago you began to loose ground a bit and fell down towards the alligator pit. But you only recognized the possible devastation for a minute and then you found a good jolly spirit again hanging from a branch. You kept the faith! Good for you! Literally (Law of attraction). Then the other day you fell into the alligator pit which makes things seem a bit more negative that perhaps climbing up that branch and return safely on ground after you gotten off the tree. But! You are so clear in your true self perception and full of faith so that even though as you've got a physical appearance the alligators mistook you for water.

To be here now is not a time.

It's a presence. Which is physical, mental, emotional. And the greatest thing forever in becoming relaxed is humour. The worst thing forever is tension. Which is all serious about everything. All truly is energy. Energy in motion = Emotion. And a universal response depending on what emotion is communicated. In honesty as to match what you desire or not. If things aren't matching up: chickedy check yo'self B4 U wreck yo'self.

When will they shoot...?

I'm waiting. I am waiting now. In faith. So fire. I've got that Oscar Meyer. Listen.. Sex. For Men. In Faith. Better dismiss that fragrance for a bit. All your energy is needed. You see it's devastating to waste it on a negative thought and emotion. You drain yourself. So if you spend time having sex, with someone like yo'self. You will not be able to complete anything. This is 1000% true. This is suicide mission. Too much is a stakes. And you might wish for better food but it's yo ass that's gon fry.

And from that focus and waste of energy you will perhaps be sitting under a bridge with a brand new cardboard blanket getting lucky once a month sharing half a hotdog with a rat who don't like you. Looking at you like Rattatoure.

So grateful might come to mind? Hopefully! Just finding joy and a bit of humour right where you iz at. The throne is yeah.. It's real. 4 sure. But your heart is supposed to be seated there. Not yo' mind. A 4 sure not yo' nutz.

I woke up today with some tension. And a bit disorientation about everything. So I calmed myself before I did anything. I can't let the mind and body take control like that. I show 'em who's boss but in peace. I force them to return to relaxation because I am the conductor. I've got a computer and a flute but I score.

What I wait for in joy and positive expectation right now is my friend 'Lisbeth' to call me. Hey! And maybe we'll take a walk and later watch a Disney classic or something.

And today I am so exited to tell ya'll that I mistook my stash of razors to be all out but I found one yesterday so I can shave and take care of myself without also peeling my skin like a bitch. Life is wonderful!

I live a wonderful life! I must say that. I have no money. I have not payed my rent for the last coming up on three months. The food I eat is all thanks to Lisbeth and she eating cooked food is all thanks to me. We're there for each other! I feel like the new shit iz about to come on now. Whatever that will be. I know what I've been praying for. Working for. All the time with all I had. Intensely for 7 years now.

So I would really like that. To pay off.. Which is to give me what I deserve. Worthy yes. No doubt about that. Deserving? He..eavens yeah! All positive! All good! All saving and restoring! All love! All awareness! All art!

- All to paint a picture of perspective for ya'll. So you can do it right. Life.

In positive expectancy keeping your energy and giving it to faith makes for a round about. You instantaneously receive what you give. That's how faith works. It's keeping it within the circle. Of life. Making for life to happen. As much as possible. No leakage. No darkness consuming what you must recharge. Just circulating pure love.

That's faith.

Makes you a little rascal. Having 🥳 fun. We never get any older than teenagers. That's the truth. I believe that when we are 13 we are actually meeting ourselves as we are more or less. But from the adult world making more and more rational and stiff afraid of everything into being responsible we grow up in a defective world stating that we are broken. If you take away all the resistance and negative projection from parents trying to mold their kids to be fantastic even though they have not taken care of themselves at all and frankly does not know a single shit about what they speak about.. I think a 13 years young individual would be a lot more secure and stable as a person not losing themselves in fighting "The raising" confusing themselves.

You have to be able to step back and see how much the rational mind, the ego full of fear has been given mandate in this world. All from a misconception mainly of sex being love. All afraid in black & white reality when everything is nuanced in full color.

So are 13 years young teens ready for anything? No.. That's the rational mind again believing in something like that. Just all ON or OFF.

- Well if they are so ready and secure and stable that means they are gonna get pregnant and have kids too!!!!!!+??"@=

..sigh..

The one communicating like that is the one being immature. Someone who makes sex and love be one and the same. Perhaps in their 50's. That still behave cranky when they aren't getting laid at home. Still feel neglected when a physical affirmation isn't happening. So they must not be loved?...

This is the world.

Upside fuckin' down.

With everything so incredibly serious. Ego society taking offense about everything.

Strangling the flow of love in misconception. Love won't deliver to the one devious. Because love knows.. Love doesn't need anything except love. So..that's you! Be true, be clear about what love is. And love will give you all. No questions asked. That's the game. If you wanna be released with great influence with all you are and all what you create everything has to match. That's not so hard to understand is it?

That's truly the definition of 'U get what U give'. With heart & soul, body & mind. Show love that you are ready. No devious hidden agenda. Be in joy as the going gets tough. There's always light to be found. You have the power to create it. From expression yourself. Inside yourself in silence the darkness will be able to grow as you honestly let it. Where I am right now I shine my light in peace and quiet inside myself. And when I state things like: I am wonderful! I am fantastic! I am all good!

I sound like 'Alice in Wonderland' in there! Oh!

Vibe inside. Intelligence. Emotional attraction. Creative feeling.

'Sunny days! Everybody loves them! But tell me baby can you stand the rain?'

'Storms will come! This we know 4 sure. Tell me baby can you stand the rain?'

Test of faith. Once again.

Not to punish. Not to make life miserable. But as to make you work for light. Work for good. For yourself! It's your life. Your experience. You ain't got shit to prove in relation to anybody else. You gotta lift yourself. Work for love. Which you iz. So you work for yourself. Becoming independent as a strong secure soul being soft in humility. The power of love! Capable of anything possible! But does not step on any toes. That's fuckin' power.

That's pristine clear cut no fuck around glorious wonderful love!

And as I write this now I cry with pain in my throat like when I was I kid..

Because I feel so much gratitude..

And I say thank you. Holding my hands on my heart.

In this I feel like love herself thanks me. For being a love soldier. For being true and standing up for love. If you ain't connecting with this right now. You've got some connection to deal with. 'Cause you offline baby.. Perhaps Online everywhere else..

If you think for a second that I've created transmutation.se, the music and all the videos with universal comprehension whilst watching booty's and lips on Instagram you are retardedly mistaken.

I have focus on this. Love.

In every breath I've taken. Every move I've made. Every claim I've staked.
I've been watching love.

So that I could see, that I belong to me. You can only own yourself. Spiritually that is. Which means that you come together in forgiveness. From understanding. And keep your own love circulation and growing. From that you receive more all the time. More that build this connection. More that builds this creation. More to make for a new clear fusion blowing the minds of people around the world! ..Because it's necessary with a smack eventually if you ain't listening to what I say. Metaphorically speaking says: Love. Not me. I just follow guidance and do exactly what love tells me. God. With my nuancing and flavor. And that's the game. You can do that to.

With an understanding of metaphorical communications you can hear between the lines regarding anything. You see the same message in everything. Because all we create is about this. We do not get a choice in that. But the more confused we are in relation to it, the more confusing as in complex metaphor the communicating creation it becomes. The more clear you are in relation to ultimate reality which is the universal laws governing everything delivering inspiration and resources as to match our current honesty position, the more symbolic and simplistic the presentation is perceived as it's being created from that personal comprehension.

Holla!

And that requires a LOT of work. Because of resistance..

A magical world of color turned off in stainless steel rigidity..

But won't happen ever as love is self correcting and much to powerful.
As the rational part of us is only 5% and the rest is 95%.

That's 95% pressure that eventually pop into something spectacular. Naturally.

It's a given. 4 sure. Just stick around in faith to be a part of it.

Especially you that created it all. That did the work.

That's me! 🎉💖💖💖🌸🕊️

About that 13 year young again..

We need about 5% morality.

When that is in place we are fun people. Not devious. Not disoriented within. And we work for love. We are spiritual beings. All love. And some might think (think think think) that we need more of that but that is all in relation to a world being immoral.

So we try to adjust to that instead of nature which we are.

Somebody raised in peace being allowed to become stable and secure within themselves will not make a revolution against the system because the system will not even be there to fight in such great power given by us all in fear. Which is all from the inside out and what we affirm and acknowledge. Sex is not love. That's the biggie.

So instead of revolting against the system (parents, society) the energy will be utilized in love making for loving creations in lack of all that fearful resistance. Whatever that will be in accordance with personal passion. And in that 5% we find rationality that together with morality has room for some simple calculations as to make a business function in relation to that secure and stable love connection.

Most school systems are businesses. Not schools.

It's for teachers to have a salary. And a place to put people. Making education more and more complex all in neglect of understanding the human experience. When from a foundation of that everything will look different. And we won't put ourselves in debt as to make ourselves successful. That's contradictory. But we buy into it as the systems of rationality held correct in a financial structure more than loving is being sustained.

We teach ourselves to death.

The more advanced aids we need to live the less we comprehend.

If you are on life support you do not understand life. That's pretty unpretty obvious.

If you can survive in joy which is the basis you can thrive and become successful as you wish. Doing what you do. Receiving all you need from source. As it's being acknowledged and affirmed as the highest and the only. Possible as it has no personality and can be the highest and lowest at the same time in all humility. Creating everything we experience. Everything.

But the more who does not affirm and acknowledge this the energy must go somewhere. And that's a distribution between the mind and the genitals. Or either one of them. Which makes for resistance as that is actually dark energy given mandate in false self perception affecting the world spirit.

And people working for light, love. Whom got's it right. Receive even more resistance as to realize what is a natural given without questioning. Because we as a human race ain't got shit together. So creations like mine become prioritized and necessary as to raise awareness first. Coming to terms with the ultimate reality. Doing what is right from there. An off we go without as much resistance!

Circulating in goodness! Like that fall down in life giving water but the alligators are gone. The shed their skin and turned into butterflies.

Aight I'm gonna go do that shave now. And brush my teeth. And maybe Lisbeth will call me soon.. So we can take a walk on the light side.

..I actually need to remind her now to slow down. I can't walk too fast. My heart has been under so much stress that I actually get tired and lose a bit of faith as I write these words. Drive slow.. Be on time.. Keep da faith  THE JOY IS HERE AND NOW. Without questioning. Just allowing for love. Do that and all is given where you are my being of love reflecting self in true image. That's not Ego. That's all love.

THANK YOU
APPLE! THIS WOULD NOT HAVE HAPPENED
WITHOUT YOU

ONE LIGHT BYTE
AND ALL YOUR DREAMS
COME TRUE..

The Rose DIVINE.COM DORIS LLOYD

The Truth
Is Not Always
A Pretty Woman.

Ebony & Ivory

+ The seven color frequency expressions

Including Jealousy/Betrayal & Love to resurrect

Ever seen or heard that one?

I don't know the origin of this story but I know Walt & Co did a rendition of it back in 1937. You see we all tell the same story. The universal tale of emotional comprehension. To teach ourselves. What is he talkin' about now? Snow White. And the Seven Dwarfs.

- They are called little people!

..yeah..

So the story is about light. And the seven colors of the rainbow being different expressions loyal to light. We also have a jealous step mother whom is the darkness failing to see her own light. So she tries to kill her (in reality) own opposition from not being humble in relation to herself. And then we've got prince charming (that's me) who seeks to connect with the light as this is the hearts desire. Love connecting to love. Which makes it all so loving and even brings back what seemed to be offline. Very much online again. The WiFi in this story is the destiny calling. It's what drives us all in love as to present the story of love.

Snow White just wanna live free, as love is free. And the dwarf-midgets-halfings just want to acknowledge and affirm love as much as possible and never wish for her to leave. So they even work in darkness as to find gems of material substitution not realizing what comes first until she arrives into their experience.

The prince is not complete without her. He roams the land in positive expectancy. Feeling good about himself without comparison as this will connect him to her. Unlike the devious stepmother whom is all about comparison. And that is her own choice in defeat prior to anything being manifested. Because she fails to see an honest & true perception of herself in the mirror of love that she manipulates as to fit the false self image all in fear.

All the animals come to Snow White because she is not a threat. They don't sense any harm. So this becomes all about attraction. If animals (whom are instinctive and not rational) stay clear of you or even behave in defense they are guarding themselves instinctively from fear of self. They feel your own fear in being inauthentic in relation to yourself. Some people define dogs for instance as more or less demanding and difficult. But you see that's really in contrast to the reality of someone being safe and secure within themselves making the dog feel the same in this individuals company.

Snow White got all the animals coming up! That's not a competitive and jealous individual. That's someone just being, love. Which is not an act. It's just being. At peace in love within oneself. That's not ego. The downside to this living in a world where people dismiss truth and stand firm in reinforcing the false self image is that from all that faith in love just feeling so much joy and peace we sometimes behave a bit naive. Which makes us consume what is well acted betrayal and deviousness from individuals with great egos taking us down for their own perceived win. All in competition and all in comparison. Like Snow White. When she ate that apple.

In retrospect if I may, I would like to make a new version of this where the evil stepmother disguises herself as the old lady and Snow White accepts a PC instead of a MacBook and dies almost instantaneously. I know I would.

You see a user friendly reliable system without hiccups is what we need. And we've got it! We've always had it! It's the universal laws of the universe. In particular the law of attraction based upon energy attraction given the emotional value in honesty presenting what we need. As to be more like Snow White all of us, actually enabling for being a bit naive rather than judgemental when we aren't working to compete in deceptive behavior all in insecure comparison neglecting our own self love.

The father of snow white is a sucker for love. Like all of us. But more materially then spiritually. Not in touch with his feelings and thus not in touch with self. So he settles for this stepmother in relation to his daughter making the situation actually not loving yet in his ego perception because I guess the stepmother must be very very good at something else. Like cooking for instance.

Or maybe playing ping pong. Perhaps putting on a show.

The one enabling this destruction in this case is clearly as you can see the sucker for love. Or else this would not have happened and Snow White could have danced around in the forest being naive like she is. Yet she would have, from being so naive in a world of attraction and soul expansion, maybe encountered a hungry wolf or something, and a kiss from prince charming won't connect severed body parts. That's the game when it comes to physical reality.

So in this case accepting the PC is less destructive and does not require any reincarnation. And so they lived happily ever afterwork. The dwarf-midget-mini-minions made that happen. With apple cider brewing giving joy of about 45%.

The End.

Anything is possible to God, Love, Source.

It's all about perception and meeting what you desire within yourself. Redeeming yourself. Coming correct in relation to truth.

Which makes you not question yourself starting with existing to begin with..

God, Love, Source makes everything and anything a reality just like that with no effort as the dream comes alive by itself.

So there is no reason not to believe in anything..

What makes it so far away is all a doubt.. -
What makes it all happen is faith.. +

Resting assured is being good enough.. 0
Passive in just being what you iz..

L o v e

..And you simply mirror yourself in a true reflection..

Light + Light = Super bright

..The reflection is walking on earth right now..

Geographical distance is non-existent as energy is everything right here and right now..

It destined to happen. It's destiny..
So get ready.. Right where you are.

..but I don't want that. I want a muscle car! A vintage one!
..Mean either! I want a beautiful house by the water!..

This is what you want.
This is what you need.

Trust in Love.

(Understand that this will become the best for the kids)

..The reason you are here..

Errthang else is a bonus.

Get it right.

..Also..

Do you ask what other people think of whatever and then dismiss that based on their judgemental opinion?

Or do you make up your own mind and perceive it thru your unique experience giving it a chance?

Perhaps for someone as to become free from a lifetime of self judgement?

People judge.
Like maniacs.
Almost nonstop everyday.

All in relation to how much they judge themselves.
But are not aware and project that instead.

Don't be that person.
You are better than that.

Everyone deserves a second chance.
To live in love from the inside out.

Don't be resistance to that.

If people are locked up for whatever they still deserve and are naturally worthy of their own love. Who am I to be the judge of that? Who are you to be the judge of that?

If they come correct and a miracle happens?
Anything is possible for God.
..Anything..

☀️ A S u m m e r y ☀️

You can reflect your true nature more or less.

Not at all or as much as you can right now. You can always become more. This is all about your own relationship with yourself, In honesty or lie. Which determines the more or less in relation to your true nature. You are worthy of everything you could possible desire. Like your true love. But will not be a given attraction based upon your own self perceived worth which is your own feelings of honestly deserving. This is something that can always change. Depending on your dedication. Of participating in your own life as in relating in humility regarding everything. When so, you become open and free as to live in honesty which then will mirror your own true nature more and more.

Which will in time, when the time is right give you more and more.. All intergalactic, all in relation to planets positions and seasons of natural/divine creation. Your destiny is scripted. So as I just changed the font size from 16 to 14 was a part of that. But I did not know that and experienced it as making that choice and thus living a life. We all have 3 possible stories. A negative, a passive and a positive. A holding on, a doing nothing (being satisfied where we are) and a becoming more. You are supported continuously with guidance that become more and more clear as you relate more which is actually you coming closer to trusting your own intuition.

Feeling your way in life rather than making judgements. There is no hate inside a human being. We are beings of pure love in our core essence for eternity. But we can make hate become manifested which is a product of fear. The contrast to love is fear not hate. So anybody acting aggressive and violent is afraid. But all confused about their own existence which creates frustration all pressured to function correctly given being a being of pure love. Understanding, forgiveness in all humility makes you grow. We are all born stars. What you make of that is your choice. A dark one or a light one.

Either way you are the one. You are God. A soul being having a human experience. In yours or any Queeingdom at all, the heart is supposed to be on the throne. Always Ultra Free. Hold love the highest and most important.

Love is true. Be true. Success happens incrementally. Step by step in a peaceful development & unfolding. As you stop judging and not fearing love herself. Be serious about love. But be able to laugh at yourself.

You are important, but not that important. That's all Ego. Let love finish and the Ego comes in third after the body. Leave the mind alone = True satisfaction. Keep dreaming, support your own dreams.

When somebody does not look you in the eyes is disrespectful.
And I feel that you should be able to tell them that with these words:

It's OK, you are worthy and deserve to look at me,
I love you, and you should love yourself too

Life is all inside out

No shame, no guilt.

Fear is necessary as it protects us from harming ourselves and others.
Unless you identify with it in false sense of self perception.

Do that enough and you behave like an animal. All instinct.
Which is necessary in self defense.

Like I said, Inside out.

Don't be afraid of love.

Love is true

Close to fear is close to darkness. Which does not have to mean anything else but tired. Low in energy = Low in love. Full of stress = Defending all threats = Salvation = Relaxation, letting go = Allowing for the new & the new comes in freedom = Non-judgemental = Compassionate = Humble = God, Soul, Source, Love

Fight darkness within as to make it an opponent.
You create everything. Turn of the light and the darkness just goes away.

Tell what's on your heart & mind. In that order.

LIGHTHEADED

(The power invested in me)

A
A+ A
A + A
A * . * + A
A + * . + * A
A. + * . + * . A
A + * + * + . A
A. + * + * . + A
A. . * + * + A
A. * + * A
A . * . + * A
A . + A
AA

To become what you are destined to be is not possible without affirming yourself.
And that is the biggest challenge when you truly know who you are but seek that outside in doubt, driving yourself crazy.

It should feel natural.
Just like a soft wind.

In your heart.

Giving you joy.
Peace.

No big head.

Just a simple.. Yes I am 😊

My Name is Leo Joyiz Rosenblad Goody

And:

I am the son/sun of God.

Simple as that.
I Won't Let the Sun Go Down On Me

Here I am.

Keep affirming.

In all of your creations.

Your words, actions & emotions.

Together.

And you will simply become.
What you are destined to be.

This time.

- Universal Response Team