Who's the best in the world?

In a contrasting universe, all in perfection, we create whatever we desire.

So where do we find the world best cup of coffee? Where is the best comedian? Is there a love song we can agree is the best in the world?

Competition creates loss.
More than it creates success.

If somebody's striving to become the best all the time it has to happen in contrast to others. That's a given. And by that becomes condescending.

We can be good. We can be really good! We can be extraordinary!

But to become and define yourself in relation to something or someone outside of yourself is not authentic in relation to self. So it will inevitably create friction. And as life is all about the inside out for each and every one of us that friction will actually be in the conflict of misconception. It's actually not being humble and coming to terms with who you are. There is nothing to achieve in relation to proof.

At the core of everyone of us we have a clear and indestructible self worth.

But that can be confusing as to feel in relation to treatment which is all about projection coming from lack of responsibility and that has its origin in fear of becoming true.

And to work at it.

Striving to be humble and perhaps becoming something of a humblist.

There is something good in everything. And the understanding of that without any judgement will make for a greater good. A greater experience. A wider perception.

To me it's like everyone is raising their hand wanting to be the one that nails it.
To be the first to deliver what is expected.

Of who?

Is that in relation to being acknowledged and celebrated for cracking the code?
For coming up with the solution.

I think so.

The solution to what?

The conflict.

But you see it's all personal.
It's a personal experience.

So there will never be a self-help book that has it all.

You will get the best result in relation to yourself.

Which is something that makes its way to you more and more and more as you stay true to your soul intention. And don't give up on what is the best for all.

That means no competition.

And you get to work yourself.
On yourself.

Not in comparison.
For you as you wish to feel good and true about who you are.

This is what's expected of you.
You expect this of yourself.

You are God.
You are truth.

You are never finished.

But you can come to realize and understand the fundamentals very very good.
And from there you navigate well in becoming more.
More of who you are.

There will never be the best of anything.
Or anyone.

It's all relative and in relation to context.

Violence is fantastic.

It truly is.

It's impossible to kick a ball, chop wood or spank somebody if they enjoy that.

It's all a matter of context.

Sweetness is useless.

It truly is.

When it comes to lift a sofa, or removing a rotten tooth.

All is love.

In various nuance and context.

Just like me and you.

It's the treatment in relation to what we wish to become and maintain that makes all the difference. Which becomes confusing and destructive when we continuously compare all the time.

Be the best at listening and following yourself.
Lead yourself with love and compassion.

Find humility and gratitude and try to be the best at that.
In relation to yourself and primarily doing it for you.

Then you will be able to give that away.

Able..

Like well able.

I am well able.

Everyone is.

But I am well is enough too.

I am good enough.

And then I do good things.

We don't have to identify with what we do.
I suggest identifying with what you are and try to be that as much as possible.

You are love.

That's a fantastic foundation.

Love is true.

Be super honest with what you do in relation to yourself.
Are you doing it to get acknowledgment and approval which you find hard to give yourself? Or are you doing things to help out and give what gives.

I have done what I have done because I try to stay loyal to my soul intention all the time. And I am very sensitive so I feel when things are off. And I pay the consequences from that in pain.

And the truth is.. So do you.

When all want satisfaction.

And the ultimate satisfaction is actually for all of us. As much as possible.

That's the truth.

Because we are all the one yet all one.

One shared spirit that affects us all.

So your next book might become a New York Times Bestseller.

..Like every other book seems to be nowadays..

And it can help other people.

..But..

Hands on heart.

What are you bringing to the table coming to the family dinner?

Is it your achievement in releasing a book at a respected publishers office.

Or is it the raw, honest and truthful communication you deliver as to make a change sacrificing everything to deliver as much as possible for free?

Of what gives.

All we need is love.

And you cannot give that to the best of your ability unless you come from experience. And stay loyal to God in your soul mission here on earth.

Go out with a bang either way.

From either becoming assassinated or celebrated.

That has been my motto.

I am not here to watch TV.

I wanna see us all happy and in love.

Living heavenly on earth.

/ All of us

An idea..

Could it be that the cells which hold the vibration based upon our choice makes their way in the blood at various speeds and get's interpreted by the mind as to present an equivalent experience.

In that case..

It's a good idea to make yourself feel good and to be present as to not experience anything we feel is not correct given the natural processing capability of our own mind.

And also..

Something we can honestly feel and won't become a surprise..
When connected and listening to our heart

Everything becomes evident, when we are objective and take responsibility.
In peace and compassion. For that makes for a clear image and in retrospect we can reflect on a thing or two.

We cannot control anything.
A control society is not a good idea.

Yet all is under our control.
From the inside out.

By not taking control.
Yet taking charge.

All in faith.

 And a lovely life happens
So why all of the anxiety, worry, panic?

You tell you.
Tell it to your heart!

..One thing that comes to mind is co-operation..

You with you.

And we'll get along just fine I feel.

(Says you to you in the mirror of love)

Now.

It's all over.

Those blaming days.

Slow down, please slow down
I need to find peace, anywhere in me
I feel like I'm under water struggling to get air
I feel like I'm lost in this body, trying to get inside my head
(Those Dancing Days - Hitten)

(That song made its way to me a long time ago, and was stored in my heart as to be used for this moment writing this. That's how it all works. Everything has a meaning).

Thank you all for everything!
