

TRUST ME..

I AM WONDERFUL : I AM MAGICAL

LOVE SAYS..
..LOVE IS

I was just given a dream..

In this dream I was spending money and I had a certain amount left on my bank account. I was texting my now ex-wife asking her if I should pick up our son from school as I was driving home. She replied to me a link to a movie not yet existing about a girl very connected to everything. But also the amount of money I had on my account. I just replied: 'Pah!' Because I was so amazed she knew the exact amount.

Now what this all means is this..

She knew. Because I knew. - This is how it is with everything

But this is not so much a reality in reality given something like this. Meaning something I've thought about just a few times and also not that big of a deal. But when it comes to something bigger and more important for all of us? We know about it. As we are one together.

So what does that mean then?

It means that we as one have a collective (sub) consciousness and therefor truly know (I KNEW IT!!!) what's going on. But the conscious mind does not. Which means that I am very much supported in all of what I have done because this is what everyone wants. Truly.

Everyone on earth or that has ever been on earth are supporting me. Putin is supporting me. Ronald Reagan is supporting me. My ex-wife is supporting me. And all of this in the fashion of absolute perfection despite anything because it makes for me creating what is need all in relation to what we need. Which is the most clear and indisputable presentation of clear awareness regarding ultimate reality.

For me doing this. HA! Yeah let me tell ya! I feel so safe. I feel such a tremendous certainty about my success. In spirit. Which we is. We always know absolutely everything. About each other. Yep!

And this was delivered as support to me during the night. From all of you. You might think that it was from my ex-wife? But we do everything together.

We are one.

I've had this feeling for a long time now. Like when I write (just like now) you all see what I am writing. And you actually do. But in spirit.

You are not hooked up to these eyes. I am.

Or else there would be difficulty having a unique experience.

But we can learn to connect. That's a natural psychic part.

So there are for sure people perhaps participating as I create what I create (Hello! :) But in that not necessarily knowing who I am as a person.

What you look at on a regular basis on the internet is what everybody knows about you. Truly for real. Even your mother. Because spirit knows. It keeps track automatically. It records everything as it does not need to. It's a pre-recorded all. Or else destiny would not exist.

I knows everything that is going to happen forever. So it does not need anything. That's why you can count on it as to deliver anything all in relation to you supporting it. That's a pretty sure given. So the same goes for darkness. Which I am pretty sure is a parallel experience to light perhaps so reflective it would be the opposite of a positive destiny succeeded.

Which is our choice. And calls for the challenge all together.

I knew it! I knew it! Gabby. I knew it. That's why you haven't supported me IRL. Even though I am who I am. Because you knew all along. And is being played by the maker. Spirit. God. As to distance yourself a bit and make me somewhat irritated and frustrated yet not giving up which pushes me to make things even more clear!

Ha!

So there is competition after all!

We try to become the most successful in presenting a clear presentation of love.

Which is not something for everybody in relation to our current position of being aware. It takes some real strength to make that happen. Which is me.

Summary:

We all work for the greater good.
We all know exactly everything going on.
We support that in spirit. In real life it varies.

Why it varies is in absolute perfection.

In relation to creation.

That will not happen as it's supposed to.
All in relation to the one braking this virus.

As this individual must be pressured as to be able to do the work.

And that's me.

If this pressure wasn't on me all in this fashion I would not do it. I would simply watch TV and eat chips or sum. But I am the one I am. For real! So this is what is necessary. You can believe that. You can have absolute faith in this. So what I feel right now! Is this:

Who are you? And who are they? For real. As we are all a part of God's wonderful plan as beings of love. ALL OF US. For real.

I cannot complete my task in judgement. Not possible.

As I need to keep receiving which only happens in connection coming closer and closer. To final connection. Which is when I'm done with my work. But then again I can always continue with it afterwards.. Just giving it away more I guess.

So all of my creations are true. All in relation to my choice of presentation given the feeling of distance to success. I lead myself with this.

You know it's funny. This feeling everything and trusting that.

I can for example write a piece of let's say going on 36 pages. And I feel like somethings off? I don't feel like I know exactly what it is but there is something. The document is making me uncomfortable.

So I scroll like three times perhaps. Swish swish swish.. And it ends up with the marker on a specific word on maybe page 18. And that word was misspelled.

Sometimes I write and I get a bit off track. What I do then is just scroll up to the top. Swish swish swish. Everything is being processed in reverse. I see the headline again. And this happens superfast. Then I'm back again to continue or summarize.

You can trust your intuition folks.

It does not lie. Ever.

But you can't trust it like:

I feel like this person wants to murder me? Maybe I should kill them first??.... Hmmmm.... (Unless they stared at you and went out into the kitchen and you hear a knife being sharpened)

No because it's all good. What does it really mean? Because this is the work of dark energy.

Lisbeth has been everything terrible imaginable.

All at once.

Like a 'child molesting spy murderer demon ghost'.

And she's the sweetest one ever!

But the darkness has had me convinced a few times. Yeah. For real. I believed all that one time for 5 straight minutes. But I did not act on it. Not even accusing her. No I came to my senses and reviewed everything in relation to everything going on. Which is a lot.

And then I told her about those visions. Those darkness attacks. Which is the best way to check on someone. Like:

'You wouldn't believe the dream I had about you!'

AH!

And this came from guidance on instagram yesterday! When a man was apologizing to his wife for being with another woman in her dream. Because from this she actually knows what he most often thinks about. Which does not necessarily mean that as in making that choice to create that thought as if he wants to. But listen. He could have been watching a lot of porn.

And from this she gets notified. As the have a bond agreed upon which is supposed to be as true as can be. Not as false as can be which is what cheating is all about.

It's like the lottery.

Where you draw yourself as a winner by affirming your own destiny.

Fear creates a mess..

Love makes everything clear.

And this is in relation to everything.

So if your child is living in a mess? Is because of confusion based in disconnection from their true self created by controlling parents trying to make them conform as to become what they are not based upon the strong desire of their parents not wishing them to become this.

Like Putin.

How accepts and invites Assad into like a witness protection program just like an inverted detective doing this for the murderer instead of the soul victim who knows all about the clear picture.

They are both really messy. Like messed up.

As their parents programmed them to be like this making them a strong survivor and executioner of will based on a false sense of self.

They made them Ego. Or caretakers.. Or whatever. I don't actually know any history of who raised who it doesn't matter.

What matters is the self perception of those people. Who went against themselves so much in complete lack of humility which makes them disconnected from their emotions which creates a perfect creation of dark raising. Which becomes contrary in and of itself because it's actually lowering and becomes hell raiser. Like the revolting teenager deluxe package bullying entire nations and seeks to affirm themselves by world domination. Which is what everyone seeks but not in a dark false self image.

We all hear the call. The call of love. And it requires some truly strong convictions and definition of success all negative as to make that happen. They truly need to die..
To their true self.

This is what they wish for most of all.

But in refusing to be humble in relation to their true self they stay disconnected and therefor material. They refuse to be what they is..

And so both the wish for domination and end for it all is truly the end of this internal conflict and personal terror instead of nuking everyone else.

So what is the main issue? What is preventing them from freedom?
Which gives us all a better experience?

They are so sorry. There is so much sorrow in them.

Which they are terrified of experiencing. Because of complete neglect and also very negative actions done to support the affirm false sense of self. They are the worlds biggest actors playing the role of the victim.

Hurt.

As they have not grown up at all. They never got the chance. That's how beaten and tormented they were as children. So this is what creates this. Parents that control. With anger. With violence. With misleading guidance all rational focused on making this child "strong". When in reality it makes them the weakest link.

And when the time comes. The weakest link brakes.

As this is like a little thread about a millimeter blown away in the wind for God. God is juste. God is fair. God does not punish. God loves. And so they kill themselves. Which is what they truly want as well. But have instead been killing others.

This thing about a specific group of people that are supposedly "The people of God" whom are entitled to their own land held highest? Is a representation of the Ego. Which is darkness manifested.

Which is about a maximum of about 5%.

I believe they should receive what they desire.

A piece of land completely disconnected from the world. They can have their own ecosystem. They should have food and water. And manage their existence completely by themselves. No radio or TV. No internet. Just as if the world was completely theirs.

I can't see why they would disagree to this? This is what they want?

This is what they've talked about and dreamed of for generations now. So let's let them have it.

If they wish to have cars they can learn how to make them. If they wish for anything in relation to anything evolutionary they can ask God for inspiring guidance and all shall be delivered.

They are after all "God's special chosen people".

For me this is a prison. But that's what I feel.

I would not like to live there. I wanna connect more and learn. I wanna become more of what I is. What puts somebody in a prison is Ego. Which is someone not humble going against themselves in false self perception acting to make themselves become realized by their own negative conductivity. With various degree of consequences. Consequence means against. And God is all about more and becoming which is a definition of sequence.

What do you feel? Without thinking about it so much? Again! Somebody identified with the rational thinking mind (The Ego) thinks in majority as in relation to feeling. You know the sound of a chainsaw? This driving monotone distortion sound. That's how they feel. Full of rage. But kept under composure. That's the problem. Not being real. Not allowing for what is creating that.

Instead actually allowing for it to use them.

The opposite of being spiritual at all.

With deadly consequences.

Everything is about affirmation. Which becomes identification.

So people like this are keeping on and never seem to change as they do all these contradictory and negative creations but affirming themselves as the opposite of that. Which affects our spirit greatly and things will be taken care of from all of us behind the curtain.

The show will be presented when the time is right.
When the answer to their prayers come.

Which is this..

Sometimes we receive something unexpected. But we always receive exactly and precisely on the money exactamundo what we need.

So no problem. Realize your ways. And do right from now on.

We all know. Which includes you too. It's just you who keep playing this game of double cheating which makes for double jeopardy involving us all.

Anyone who's ever done anything in history trying to be clear, true and deliver any kind of insight into making everyone aware of this has contributed to this moment. Everyone who's ever mistreated and judged me has been the catalyst from me to feel all of that pressure making me do what I have done. As I put my life on the line and allowed for myself to feel it all. As to truly. Understand without personally participating. Because it doesn't matter what was done.

What matters is what kind of energy was submitted to God as to ask for more of the same. Which I have felt. Like airplanes standing on my heart nose down.
But that's all good.

Because it made me impartial.

And allowed for me to sort it out without taking sides.

Just like love does.

Because I am Love.

Just like all.

I just happened to be reincarnated as the one destined to do this.

And that's not super easy to initially realize. Yet.. Has it's reasons or else how could I have come to this place in my life without all of my personal experiences given my sensitivity making me personally feel all of this, as in equal, as to be able to get rid of it.

You see.

I ain't mad at cha.

But I rather run da streets.

And give you some California Love.

What I won't do for love?

..'Cause life goes on.

They guy with his wife apologizing online is probably not just about looking at porn. It doesn't matter regarding this specific couple. But what I mean is POV. Because this makes it (for the subconscious mind) him being there and actually doing it. The subconscious mind does not know the difference. Which tells us a lot about what we consume right? Right.

Some are force fed.

That's never good.

Putin and Assad wuz force fed rocks. Making them heavy metal. Without any musical understanding at all, yet great as composers. Holding strong as false sense of realized self.

Which in reality is:

A poser.

Fake.

Unreal.

False.

Dark.

Self.

Affirmed. Not authentic and true at all. IN relation to what they truly is. Which is pure love. A world of hurt ordered and God helps as God does not judge and keeps giving to whomever has a strong belief about anything.

They are living out their nightmare. But in their messes upside down inverted and twisted backwards perception, their dream.

Excitement is a positive expecting feeling.
Which is experienced as fear in disbelief.

Fear = Far
Love = Close

In relation to connection making things happen depending on actions. All in relation to a heartfelt comprehension of this which and not a rational & judgemental thought.

Soul and Ego tango.
Who's the leader?
Honestly.

Which can only be discovered by being humble as to come to a greater understanding. Not judging oneself. And doing the right thing all in relation to true and authentic self. Being real.

Composer.

True.

Real.

Honest.

Light.

Self.

Affirmed.

Absolutely doable for anyone. Who decides by free will to pursue their destiny of love and not fear. A world of love ordered! And God helps as God does not judge and keeps giving to whomever has a strong belief about anything.

Living the dream. For real.

So who do I think I am?..

I don't think that much. When I do that I eventually don't know.

Knowing is feeling.

And I feel like one with love.

That's all I need.

So listen all..

School. The school systems are mostly designed to keep the people a part of it important. To make for an economic system which sustains itself by law as to make people feel accomplished in repeating themselves.

Some of us are practical. Some are very artistic. Both are one and the same. The kind of hairstyle they had in 1793 and what year someone shit they paints in Austria ain't relevant to evolution.

What we look for is adventure and interest. Which automatically gives focus and attention all in joy and excitement. This is what school systems today force us to find in relation to what we feel we don't want.

A school is supposed to be innovative and that can only happen with improvisation. And that can only happen with a little bit of structure but keeping it abstract as to be free in expression.

So the teacher should be influenced by the students as to be a humble master. But knowing their fundamental most giving in all situations in relation to universal creation. This has nothing to do with "The Universe!". Listen to the guidance... Universal. Creation.

This is applicable in perfection on Flacru76B and also on %&/ (#"€#W%€E& as well as on planet Earth.

Like..

A teacher can remember that hairstyle. They can remember that year. And they can grade people behaving in accordance to a reflection of this in various configuration based on their own self judgement.

But perhaps can't cook? Can't paint? Can't make music? Can't fuck?

So what da fuck are you so held high for?

It's like you make yourself the artist by knowing the artists name and origin???

Are you retarded?

Or the Doctor who know so much about anatomy but seemingly very little about creation.

Both lack this comprehension.

But very prestigious in their knowledge?

Necessary for respiratory actions given to the one who in reality simply knows before they begin to question themselves in relation to a corrupt system. Created to feel good about yourself in false self perception. I.E : Ego Society.

Have a break now: Listen to SASH! - Stay..

Then listen to 'Color the world'.. Then listen to your heart.

Then grow up. Like light up. Spiritually.

Liquid Child - Return of Atlantis (Ferry Corsten Remix)

I love you.

Marcus Schulz - You won't see me cry (Deepsky Remix)

GROWN ASS KID

I've never been a person of great calculative performance. I've always been a dreamer. I've tried to develop my rational skills as I've worked for a chef for about 16 years but truth be told I've always struggled with it. I'm born in 1982 and it just doesn't come natural to me. It's not who I am. But I need to be like this anyway or else I become dysfunctional. Yet.. I understand creation. I understand the universal laws in relation to emotions. I understand home relationships function. This is what I'm really good at.

I see connection between various expressions being in essence on and the same only inverted, twisted, upside down, in and out, in contrast etc. I see and understand patterns that are so complicated for most people actually making us live in a rational and calculative world. It's a self created society based in majority of what ain't. Some people might think that I'm immature. Not handling business. But as I said I've tried and I'm born in 1982. I don't condescend myself regarding this and I understand that it's a part of life. But when I think & feel connected to soul it's not a priority as to be equivalent of what soul tells me is of greatest importance. I can dismiss this. Sure. I can do it anyway. I can dismiss all of what I'm really passionate about and actually really good at. And just push myself feeling stressed in doing something I clearly ain't made for. It will make me feel tensed and dissatisfied emotionally and in doing so I can consume as to make me feel "good" momentarily. Or I can do what I'm destined to do. Which is what I'm really good at. And brings me great satisfaction. Making me feel good and affirming my true nature.

I love to make music. I love to paint. I love to sing. I love to talk. I love to feel. I love to connect. I love to expand. I love to help out. I love to give. That's the biggie. I love to give as to make myself feel good. I love when people see me as a good friend. I love when I can make people feel better, which sometimes is to make them feel momentarily a little bit like the opposite. Because it's necessary. That's the thing about pushing yourself caring burdens around. We all carry a cross on our backs in relation to emotional misconceptions. In relation to poor self judgement. And this becomes the world. So.. This inner child deal. That some make into being immature. Not responsible. Is what we run away from being all calculative and rational. This is not our true nature. Some find great pleasure in doing work like that. They are really good at it. And they can live happy and feel good about themselves. It's also necessary. But that's not me. It's never been me. And it never will be who I am. It will for nobody ever be the one 'I AM'. And that's the key to success. For all. You see? It's being responsible from the core of your being and then doing what you are passionate about. Not working really hard neglecting what you is. This is not ever something just for me as I am. This is the same for everyone. And we speak internationally so much about the kids being of great importance and that we can learn so much from them. Yet we push society in rational calculative ways so much that kids need to grow up faster than ever. To study even harder. As to become a responsible worker supporting this system. Or else it will fail. Making them stressed out and feel bad inside as they neglect their true nature. Writing something like this perhaps? Is that a healthy society? Is that functional? Am I sick? Am I wrong? Or is the world a stressful place?

I love 'Studio Ghibli'. All the movies has such great artistic creations and lovely music. But they all have something else common about them. They have a sense of peace in them. Which is very harmonic and feels close to nature. Somebody rational and calculative is also someone very material and thus superficial. And they could make that into flowers and trees. Birds and sunshine. That's vegetation. That's the material living nature. But the true nature is love. Behind it all. It's what makes everything alive. It's what makes everything. And when you leave all other things aside and connect with it you realize that there is no separation between you and it. So it's not a thing. No objectivity there. No you and that. It's something which isn't a thing which is inseparable. One. Experiencing itself. Pure awareness. Pure love. Unconditional. Which I cannot exist without. Which between it and me has no distance. And from this which has the power to create anything I experience this body and these fingers being used by my mind as I write this. By my choice as I really want to write this. Now what is it in my that feels such a strong desire to wanna write this? Well..I feel so strong about it. It's emotional. And I can't do that without my heart. That would be impossible. So I use my mind as to make this happen. My mind. That I have. Which holds my personality.

But it's not me who's writing this.. As in that personality.

It becomes a part of it. It makes for a unique and one of a kind creation. But it's the feeling that makes it. This feeling is the origin for it all. Which makes it possible. The feeling existing without the mind. That uses the mind. And connects to my fingers on a computer keyboard. Wishing to explain to myself as to affirm to myself what I feel. What I feel is of great importance. It's what makes me feel real. Without it I'm just a function. To make something function. Or else it's dysfunctional. Which for me without my feelings and connection to what exists without separation excluding my body makes me real. Makes it all pretty fictional. The rest I mean. What do you truly know about imagery rendition? Do you think this is the best rendition of visual presentation there is? I mean like this three dimensional reality you are experiencing right now is maximum rendition? Or could it be, that from another dimension, this is a cartoon? From that point of view? Could this world and everything in it be a cartoon from higher dimensions. I believe so. I beleive so very much. That's not condescending. It's just a different take on everything. Perhaps in higher dimensions they create art? Just like we do! And these works of art are us. Like we animate and create characters in movies like the movies from 'Studio Ghibli'. We manage and script all of that as to make that into a beautiful movie experience. And from higher dimensions we are managed and scripted as to make for a beautiful experience. The only difference is that we live that experience with free choice. Free will. And from our personal responsibility to be as real as we can in relation to ourselves and our true nature we can experience a presentation that feels connected and satisfying or not. From what we create inside ourselves with free will we choose the music. We choose the mood. We choose the entire experience together. This ain't fictional anymore now is it? We all know this. We create our own reality. All of us. And what we wish to be presented as to experience is what we tell these higher dimensions and it's given as we stay connected. But then again.. These higher dimensions? I am pure loving awareness without separation? In relation inseparable to what creates everything? So what's that all about? In essence? How can we define that? What is this?

True self awareness.

That's what it is. And it creates all. From unconditional love. Which makes me and you exactly that. Without separation. Yet aware of self. Completely. All the time. Knowing everything that's gonna happen. Aware of all historical happenings. Not ever possible to be defined as some thing at all. Incapable of worry. Does not know fear. Is all joy and creation. Makes everything happen without effort. Full of all possible possibilities you could ever imagine. And that's the key! Because without it? It just is..

It's not stressed. It's not in a rush. It's not worried and needs to work as to make a living. It is living. It's the definition of all creation and existing as to make anything and everything comes alive. The power of pure non-conceptual & unconditional love which is a part of your life all the time without any separation at all. We feel that in our hearts. We can choose to connect to it. We can choose to live it. We can choose to completely trust it as it's all giving and never condemning. It's a stream of all giving and never taking. It goes on and on and simply delivers. That's the greatest and highest power in all of existence. That's a really good and fantastic all positive leader. Supreme is what I would call it! The supreme just being. Supreme being. Which has no opposition. Undisputed champion. Forever. Why? Because of no competition.

Because it's not in need of anything else. It's not capable of feeling loss. In relation to itself. Or else it would not be all given and unconditional. It non-conceptual so it does not have anything material about it. So it truly does not have a name. But we can choose to call it something as to affirm its existence. The word God is a supreme name. Source is another. We can define it by what it does? And call it the Universe.

But come back again.. To what you is. The drive without the body completely self aware without judgement all true to itself. You are allowed and expected to be this. It's calling for you to connect. And you cannot connect without trusting it. Which is faith. Just you and this which is you in essence as true self aware non-conceptual existence.

All love..

So can you see what kind of world we would live in if everyone understood and connected with this without competition, judgement, lies & cheating. It would make for a very loving personal relationship enabling the very same among us all. And we would create more wonderful things as to make us feel great without working to make a living. Instead actually living to make it work. As good as possible from a foundation of ultimate reality. Connected to higher dimensions all in faith yet also identified with it. That's where we are headed. This is what evolution has come to. For us to be what we is and make a world full of it. Instead of slaving for the mind trying to make it work for us as we neglect our true nature. Which makes us stressed and frustrated creating conflict among us when we are all in truth the same and one. So we need to put our inner conflict to rest and stop judging ourselves. Which makes us not judge each other. And instead support and appreciate each other as we support and appreciate ourselves. Being what we is, living free. From the inside out. As intended.

The grown ass kid..

A child growing up in a healthy loving environment feels calm and supported. This child feels they can relax because mom & dad or whatever caretaker is handling everything and they can develop and grow to become more of what they is. It did not grow up like that. My home was full of worry and stress. I was abused and made to doubt myself and my existence. I was brought up disconnecting myself from my true aware and unconditional self. But what I've have made out regarding all of that is that I need to find that myself. And in doing so feeling like that safe and secure child within me in relation to the higher dimensions being what I need as my super giving and supportive caretake. I need to rely on that. Which I do by affirming it, connecting with it, trusting it. That ain't possible without feeling. Feeling secure, safe & supported.

Yet at the same time being an adult.

Often times being defined as static, serious and not feeling. Just working. To make it work. Which is not so much connection to all that gives? It's disconnection.

Whatever I need in my journey is given to me from pure love and unconditional support. Which I receive as I connect with it in faith. Which is only possible not worrying and simply trusting that it will deliver. And it does. If it doesn't I've lost awareness. And made myself rational without trusting my own imagination. Which is the loss of the dream come true wish. Anything can happen at anytime in any way.

So this is the feeling I need to have. The state I need to be in which isn't static. It's open for possibilities. As I affirm and communicate what I wish. What I dream of. And feel good and expecting in relation to the dream coming true.

The dreamer. The creator. The maker.

It's all me. It's all of. It's all God.

God is like a baby. A baby that just gives so much love by just being. And stays that way forever. Which we are allowed and expected to connect with as to make things come alive which we truly desire as to make us deeply satisfied and appreciate life even more. So the foundation is to appreciate where you are. And connect with dreaming, creating and trusting. Love. And the baby delivers.

The all powerful baby! The sunshine! The all loving! The all giving!

Which won't deliver in relation to discontent. In situations of stress and judgement. Because that would be a confirmation of self defeat. It cannot give as to affirm destruction. If you wish to receive happy and possibility you gotta connect with happy and possibility. It's reflective and unconditional. So it just keeps giving what you feel you already have. Which is a universal response reflecting your gratitude. God won't kill you. God will not strip you of everything leaving you empty. That's what we create ourselves from complaining and simply stressing to make something work which never was intended to function. Good is Good. Just is.. Don't fight that.

Opposition is nothing else than true self neglect. When the opposition is affirmed it exists. When neglected it disappears. The play play of light and dark. That's the play of consciousness. We can try to kill the opposition in judgement by we only kill spirit in ourselves as we choose to do so. What makes the scale even out is not adding to what we do not want. It's adding on the light side which is by affirm in positivity instead of adding to the resistance. What makes us do that acting in true self opposition is identifying with hurt as to be a sorry ass victim. What is hurting must be released. Which cannot happen in judgment. That's impossible. That's not forgiveness. What is forgiven is remembered but not affirmed in conflict. We understand and come to truth. Which is all giving without judgement. And thus from this awareness makes for such a bright light that darkness simply no more is visible. That's enlightened. That's a bright mind. A positive mind. Not anything mystical or unattainable like fake ass gurus try to convey it is.

I just wanna be me and live free!

That's what you want as well!

We want the very same thing.

But life won't become this without a little crazy experimentations. Like trusting nature completely. Pure madness! God is crazy. God creates creatures biting the head off other creatures. Eating the intestines raw with blood all over their face. God makes for butterflies traveling great distances against harsh weather conditions full of spectacular color patterns. It's a crazy world. Abstract beyond complete comprehension. When we love each other we lick each other in the mouth! We love our kids unconditionally so much! But we don' wanna lick them in the mouth??? What is this!? We love ourselves but can't either kiss or hug ourselves! WAAA!!!!.... All I want is love! All I need is love!

Calm down.. Don't take your clothes off on camera being affirmed as free having sex.

What do you really want? What do you truly need?

Joy. Peace. Adventure. Cozy. Excitement. Friendship. Alone. Trust. Safe. Good.

All good.

Then be good. By being goodness.
Impossible without true self affirmation.

Without it we work like maniacs. Receiving the reward disappearing fast as the equation of a financial system is disharmonic to nature with prices exceeding the possibility to live healthy. This kid ain't stupid. This child ain't a moron.

This child is genius. The promised child of nature. Connected to self.

Child of God. / Quit hurting it. - Give it space. Allow for it. Love it.

/ Liberace Leo De La Fonte En Pasado Di Creassionenesse..