

The reality. (Demonic Emotions - Stuck on a spacetrip)

The reality is this. All habitual. More or less the same. Or a new allowed for construct which is the dream prior to manifestation.

Which can be allowed for ever so much more. If allowed for.

That means to not hold on to any form of stagnant idea of what is the foundation of creation. And most importantly not holding it outside illusive to be utilized when in reality you do it consciously or unconsciously all the freakin' time.

How aware of this are you? This is key.

In comes transmutation.se

A feed of the same thing but in different stages as to give multiple perspectives. Feed what you wish to come. And it comes. No doubt about that. There is nothing impossible. It's about what you wish? And so you dream.. Create to support. Imprint belief coming to faith. Affirming as already occurred. And eventually the universe does not even yield. The universe is like a newborn baby. A fun sun like in Teletubbies. Always blissed out and always giving. Does not need to think about anything as it cannot. So no judgement at all. Forgiveness is instant as judgement is never.

You get what you ask for. With what you communicate, dream, and affirm. Supporting destruction or construction. Compression or Expansion.

Why judgement is not an actuality is because the universe becomes. And can therefor not ever support anything not becoming. What makes for condemnation is a human trait of strong hold but will brake eventually as the light is non effortlessly as in not competitively growing in proportion to what will never be once more.

All new.

The resistance is really the tension of muscles. The mind and the rest of the body. Which makes for an interpretation of insecurity. Which is good living in hostile conditions. But if not. Bravery is lacking as to make a strong point. First to self and then to the world. Taking that responsibility as to not make it into an economic success but for a success for love as love is.

This is what I've done.

You own the right to your experience of whatever. The question is yours wether you deserve it or not. Which is a feeling that must be communicated receiving a non-judgemental all giving response. That's all. No blame. No hiding. No lies.

Ultimate reality is in the source of all creation. Better be buddy with it.
It knows all and sees all so you cannot run or hide from what you also is.

As you is love. No separation of any.

All one.

When you wake up in the morning it's day 1 always. Restart. New chance.

To make it right.

What is that?

Do what you feel like. Doing whatever.

But congruent with a creation that benefits as many as possible making the world a better place. Which has free space with it. From the inside out. So no bullshit.

Movement. That's is all. Multidimensional. In dimensions you could not possibly dream of existed. The three dimensional reality in contrast to this is like a grain of sand in the entire universe. Which says a lot about one individual and their rights as an ego manifestation owning and controlling. The dictator ruling others yet truly ruled by themselves. The greatest loser.

Holding God sacred in separation is moronic. Idiocracy.

And makes for a society of momentary Ludacris behavior. Just like sitting on a branch cutting it off as to make toilet paper falling to a certain death.

This is religion.

Far far away from any ultimate astral reality. God forgive. God allows. But God can also have enough. Which are individuals doing the work of God for real. Free from any kind of ideology. No connection and affiliation at all. The all free. The single most difficult thing to do as a human being but also the easiest depending on the current resistance.

'Interstate - Human Beings'

Rave. The best thing there is. But that is also what can become a religion. Praising the drugs and music without actually doing anything with it. The natural medicines are here to help us. Not to have an escape for the dreadful work hours. But we need to let loose for sure. Easter is astral. All dates of exclamation are astral. Point of creation in relation to test of faith. Do it all in one year and the dream is yours. Do it continuously for 8. Makes no difference. It depends on what you wish to create. And so it is given....

/ Leo - I am nothing, yet I am also everything.