

KNOWING

What becomes very apparent when you're experiencing a free state of mind is that everyone knows. We all know all. So this does not mean we know the narrative of the story. We are not precognitive as to experience something completely before it happens. But we all know as knowing knows self. Inspiration handles its own business. I connects in perfection and happens. Which is all in relation to maturity. The next step of development for one individual but also as a connection in relation to other people whom are also involved just like this one individual is involved in everything. So nobody is super special in that sense. But at the same time all are. We live and breath like one organism. Which consumes its own history as to present the new. All the time.

This I know.

I know that as I have experienced it. By being quiet and just connecting without judgement. In essence we are all angels for one another. And give ourselves as one another exactly what we need in relation to where we are. Which is our emotional comprehension.

I was out for a walk not to long ago. I was just looking at nature and all of a sudden a young kid walks past me as I'm looking at the sun. And he says hello to me. I felt joy and smiled as I greeted him back. And for me this is angelic. Because I needed that. He could have just walked passed me? But he said hello. That's an impulse. An intuitive impulse that he decided to roll with. That's love doing what love does. That's inspiration taking care of itself.

All is about affirmation. Confirmation. What we affirm and confirm becomes. From the intuitive knowing that something is about to happen. We LOVE when things happen when we are bored. And we LOVE when that calm comes over us as life has been hectic. So what do we want? Good mix. Nice blend. You and me. Perfect match.

So sweet.. So loving. Please come to me.
- Where are you? Where can I find you?

Right here. And I will always love you. No matter what. I love you forever. All I need from you? Is feeling grateful. Thank me, I am love. And things happen. Do not stress. As this will make it more difficult to be right here. Where I am. We write this together you and I. Who's you? For real? As I am I. I am you. One. We are one. We know each other. In love. As we reflect each other in truth. The same just inverted. As to make for color, shade, depth etc. The grand illusion of perceived solidity. When all is fluid..

Show us what you like. Show us what you enjoy. Do not judge yourself for any of it. Feel deserving and worthy of it. Be confident that it will happen. And it will..

How faithful and calm can you be? Which is not an effort. And that the challenge for the mind. As trust is not created. Love is not created. Love is free..

Just is.. Which means, just happens.

Like that. From nowhere. From nothing. It becomes..

Keep that good spirit. It does NOT require much. Not ecstatic. Not like that.

Just feeling good right where you is.. And you connect with us. We are love. We is love. And all is given.. What you receive is unconditional love. That's the most precious thing in the universe. As you wish for this and cherish this all else will come.. First things first.

KNOW. By feeling. That all is for a greater good. And will happen. Choose by free will, to be a part of it. When the opportunity comes. People can join you. From your own choice of letting in. This is holy. This is sacred. As you from this position knows just like us. That things come easy but not from ungrateful stress. No judgement. But simple as that.

All eat all. Dog eat Dog. God+God. The mouth of love kisses its own ass. Love yourself. All of what you are as a human being. And you give yourself to the world..

We will make that happen.

Thank you. For your sacrifice.

All will now be restored. And from the hard work and effort. You shall received more than you could ever dream of. Because you've earned it.

Put your hands on your heart. Feel that strong pride. And say thank you.

For all the guidance. For all the love.

And we feel each other in sincerity. We mean that.

True.
