

YOUR NIGHT

TRANSMUTATION.SE

13.

WATTA ISSA DA DEAL WITTA THISSA?

You have 12 gross personality traits. I don't have internet right now so I cannot google and present them specifically. And truth be told and behold..

I don't care.

Have you ever woken up in the morning convinced that you where laying straight in bed. But it turns out you where sleeping with yer head on one side and the feet on the other. Diagonally that is.

That's a bit what it's like being not being.

A bit off.

And every part of you that you engage with as a human being as you're having a human experience is part of being human.

Butt!

Those are all lower in relation to your highness.
The highest of high.

The 13th!

Or as it is not identified with anything:

The ONE!

Free spirit!

And the magical part about all of that is that you will know in projections when you are on coarse or not. It will be you showing you the way. And that's universal.
So it's the same for all of us.

I don't know who started this rumor about 13 being unlucky?

But some piece of shit muthafucka did.

We are muthalovvas.

So for instance.

I was trying out for this chef job last night. And the guy who greets me and lets me in says within the first 5 minutes:

'I've been working here for 13 years'.

When it was my first time to plate and send out a dish it was ticket number 13.

13 doesn't mean anything other than, 'Yes! You are going in the right direction'.

The more present you are as in just letting things be in acceptance and simply being the more you will experience this guidance.

This is what some makes into the 12 DEE-TZAI-POWLS.

(Spelling correction did not nail that one)

You are everything.

The source of unconditional love is a pure aware source of light energy.

You are exactly that put currently experience being human.

So that means you perceive things and all in relation to your perception.

Which makes for the challenge of finding enjoyment in relation to yourself as to communicate that things are going good and that is what you wish to receive more of. Or the opposite. That's your choice. Freedom. Free will.

Everything gets filtered thru you.

And all of that filtration can be understood or judged.

All of that makes for a specific experience.

In relation to pain and pleasure.

Which sometimes can be good together?

Fear and Love.

Excitement is not possible without a little bit of fear.

That's the alchemists way of emotional creation.

That's why ladies sometimes are drawn to 'Bad Guys'.
Because of the excitement.

A thrill.

But not a homicidal thriller.

Yet it becomes that if the thrill seeking is too much.

And that's the same for all of us.

We don't like being bored.

And I know for sure that life is not boring in presence and a greater understanding about the human experience. Because that makes life into an adventure.

As you feel that excitement about what's gonna happen next from your own participation in joy. 'What is this telling me?' Wow.. I wonder what's gonna happen next?

Says nobody who judges themselves all the time.

Because they carry resistance and by that have a negative outlook from a dark perception. So instead of the adventure it becomes an accident waiting to happen.

Catastrophe or Symphony.

The positive and excited outlook is what moves you forward and positive things happen. That's all your own communication.

All these signs can be made up.

If you convince yourself that when you walked across the street earlier today and that car passed by you with a license plate stating:

AYE013

..means that all good things are happening for you. That you are doing great and is on the right track! Then create that!

You get a good feeling about it and the most important part of it is affirmation.

Affirm that it's a sign.

Or else the signs will stop coming.

You want a miracle?

Those are miracles.

Signs like that has been support for me in complete darkness walking by to see my kitchen clock read 10:13.

From that I lit up!

And that is ALWAYS ALWAYS ALWAYS what you're looking for.

A little spark to make you feel better, to feel good, to feel a bit excited.
As all is communication with a universal response.

You get what you give.

- But I ain't seen anythang? I ain't receiving stuff!

This is worth more than any thing. Because this is Love. This is you feeling good and enjoying life. And that makes your life enjoyable. Feeling good. And excited.

What size TV is the equivalent of that?

What new car model is the equivalent of that?

How much money in your pocket is the equivalent of that?

But you see.. There is nothing wrong with wanting and desiring stuff.

But you gotta come from the right perspective.

Come from light to receive light.

Not come from darkness...?

And from there all is given.

In good and perfect time.

Check this out:

I received this yesterday.

The flood.

Today, October 29th as I was resting I received a vision. The vision was a flood reaching over the tree tops and windows where shattered and everything covered in water.

But the general state of feeling was not negative or destructive. I did not feel like I should begin building an Ark??

Everything is coming.

I am getting flooded! In positivity.

IN LOVE! 🥰🌸💖🏆💎🌟

That was a lucid vision.

I can choose to ignore that. Make that into nothing.
But wow! I will harm myself so much in doing that.

Exactly what this means and how it will present itself beats me?

I have no idea. And so I stay in faith and let the universe deliver that to me.

I just keep and stay with that feeling.

'Don't stop! Believing!.. Hold on to that feeling yeahaaa!'

Love light! People! OOOOooooOOOOoooOOO!!!!

...yeah.

Once again peeps.

Your life is a reflection of your own emotional communication.
You project a general state of feeling. And receive a universal non-judgemental reply in honesty based upon your own honesty, all in humble relation to how you truthfully perceive yourself.

You give yourself everything.

Or take everything away.

All depending on your affirmation and acknowledgement of either fear or love.

And most likely somewhere in between with a bit of wavering given the possibility thru free will to change that nuancing to match your personal preference of pleasure which is in good moral and includes others.

Are you on the dark side of the light side young Skywalker?

The force is in you.

And naturally wants you in its autocorrection to feel as good as possible.

That's my comprehension of why it's called the force of love.

Because you can go against it but it will self correct in you experiencing pain.

So a good force then.

All Love.

But love is unconditional as well and does not step on any toes. So love has to be affirmed and acknowledged as to exist and from there become more.

All inside you and from that praise and appreciation you'll receive more as this is universal non-judgemental all giving communication.

Nobody is on the other side choosing anything like if you are worthy or ready or anything..

It's all you.

And if things aren't happening.

You can't blame.

Don't beat yourself up.

Take some time to be objective and look at yourself.

Then you be humble and honest as to crest yourself in relation to yourself.

Understand that people close to you whom aren't doing this are a part of your resistance. Let them be.

You do you.

Or else we have wars.

Small or Big.

And you deepen the relationship with yourself as to know yourself as in self more.
The love that you are!

And that will never become accomplished.

And you don't want that!

Because who says no to more love???

Nobody does!

Unless you feel unworthy. Unless you feel less than..
Unless you are a little scared.. Which actually needs you to be brave.

And that is all in relation to you all alone with yourself for a good period of time before you get confident and strong in your love again as to become official.

So don't worry about anything!

Just do it!

All in love. All in relation to yourself.

Be as true to you as you can.

And things cannot go wrong.

The challenge is still there. It can seem like shit hits the fan and gets worse 1 month from now but know that all is happening for you. Not against you.

Return to gratitude and humility to learn what happened and why?

Everything happens for a reason.

And that perceived negative thing that happened has some light in it.

I know terrible things happen sometimes.

But everything brings light with it.

It just might take some time as to realize that.

And all of who happened becomes a sign and guidance in an of itself.

That's a 13 to.

Dreams come true as you live the dream.

Nightmares become real as you have faith in them.

I you maintain that loving and exciting feeling of good things coming but after lunch feel like:

- Aw Man! This is exhausting I can't keep this up???

Just tone that down a bit.

Don't live excited like it's gonna happen in 5 minutes.

Just be a little excited all the time in moderation.

You find that feeling. From experience.

That's a fine-tuning.

Practice feeling good for whatever.

Just enjoying the moment.

And things come.

Accepting what is so that it may be allows for it to pass.

Simple as that.

Letting go..

Receiving the next piece of life experience you haven't had before which makes for a pleasurable challenge and exciting happening.

And thus..

An exciting and pleasurable life happens..

The catastrophic mindset makes for everything to be a devastation before anything has ever happened. And that is all just a negative setting which becomes true and affirmed as it manifests.

Just like the opposite.

All from the inside out.

All in free will.

All in humility.

YOU. WILL. CEASE. TO. EXIST.
THINK ABOUT THAT.

And feel for all not just yourself.

The children are promised a beautiful world.

Just like you where.

Do your best in changing your own perception of yourself - changing the perception of the world - presenting a world of love for all the kids!

The economy, the wars, the conflicts, the politics, whatever.

Will all automatically and magically be solved as the majority of people does this.

When we turn up the light the darkness disappears.

That's just super simple and natural.

The night is not around during daytime???

Everything is a manifestation of the same thing. Presenting in various concepts of divine art as for us to make the most out of that which is all in compassionate understanding.

We cannot give what we do not have.

Humility.

When we take care of the most precious thing ever, our life, ourselves.

We feel so grateful!

And the universe responds.

All giving.

Thank you!

Everything is alright.
You are Love and that is truth.

So deep inside the core essence of who and what you are there cannot be a lie.

So what is accepted is also what you are capable of affirming in relation to that. Which is all your choice. So in relation to yourself, you can smoke cigarettes and nothing will happen if you are strong in a positive conviction.

That's how powerful your mind is.

Exactly the same in the opposite direction.

The lord giveth and the lord takes it away.
That's all you wearing that crown of gold or thorns.

By choice.

Your Highness

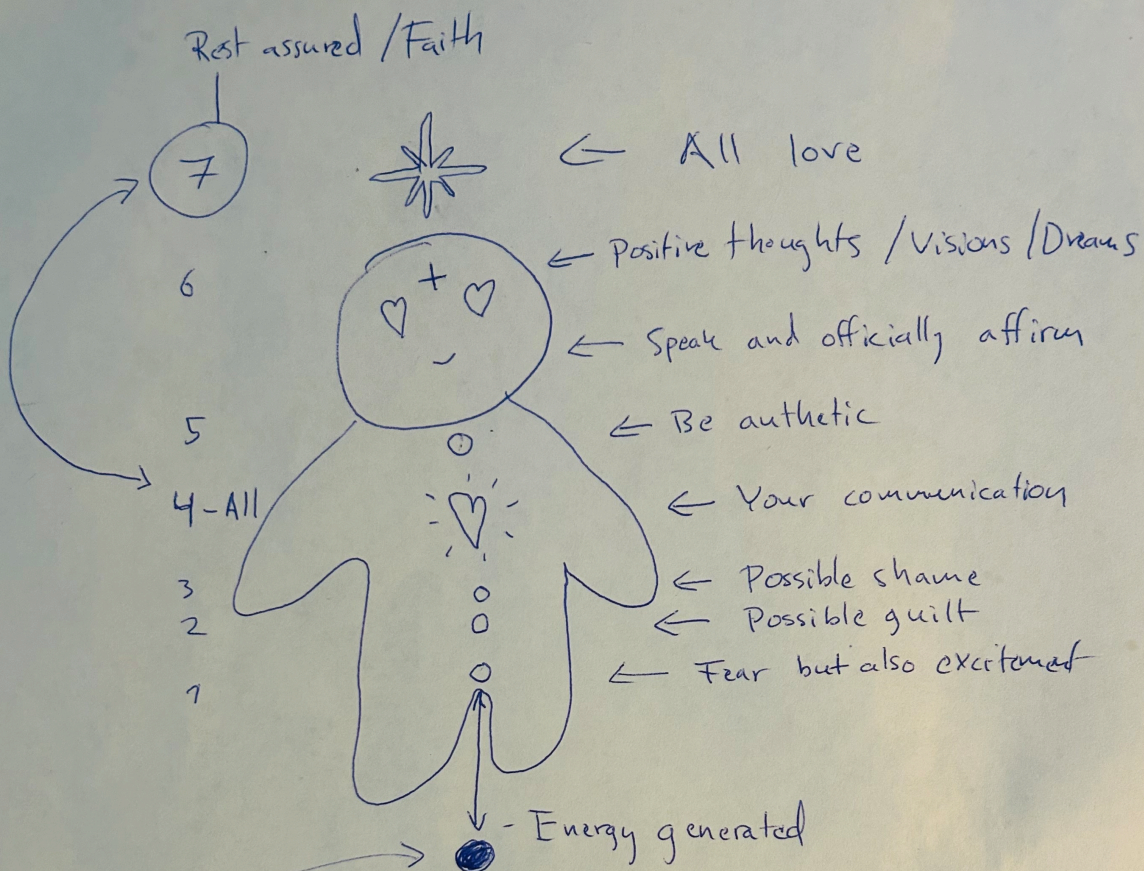

All in good time.

All in perfect timing.

All a universal response.

All love. Actually.

All tension or relaxation.

16 - Full sequence

1 - New beginning / End of old

→ Darkness to light.

By choice - Free will.

So Beautiful!

/ A Life!

Ester Hicks talked about holding your vision emotionally for 17 seconds.

This is why.

Can you see that?

Every now and then. As you do this..

You are serious about what you wish would come to fruition.

Do you put a timer on that?

Absolutely not.

Love is timeless.

You just love yourself.

Possibility?

Possible shame, possible quilt.

Makes for humility in relation to yourself.

As to allow for the energy to make it up to the heart in a positive charge communicating to the universe that things are going great.

Which in relation to you as all is inside out does not depend on anything not yet created. It's all you feeling great about yourself.

Love yourself. Love your life.

And more is given.

Naturally. Without any hesitation.

Deal with what is holding you back.

Be official in your communication in all desire to rid yourself of resistance.

To understand as to forgive and release what is no longer serving you.
If that is difficult? It is still serving you.

Come correct in humility.

And you let go.

Coming closer and closer to your big break.

Which is to live free without existential questioning.

And just enjoy life.

Having the time of you life.

100% Inside out.

Being comfortable and in acceptance of all that you are.

You can even embrace and celebrate who you are.

All you with you. And wish for others to feel the same.

Comparison is non-existent.

If you were the only one on the planet you would have the most beautiful eyes.
You would have the most beautiful smile. The most wonderful body. The greatest sense of humour. The most loving heart.

Be you. Play you. Affirm and acknowledge yourself as self, as Love, as God.

Light! Perception! Manifestation!

WHAT WILL HAPPEN WHEN I ASK TO GET RID OF WHAT IS NO LONGER SERVING ME?

Answer:

You will find that out.
In relation to yourself.

What will happen is that disappointment will arise.
In the world, in people, in circumstances & situations.

That will make you feel anger, sorrow & fear.

All to make you aware of what you carry in relation to yourself.

And as this arises you will get the choice to come to understanding.

As understanding comes you eventually forgive.

As you forgive you release.

As you release you become free.

As intended.

Free spirit.

The longer all this takes to sort out and leave you? Is your choice in personal responsibility or blame.

So you cannot stress this.

You can't hurry love.

Let it take the time it needs because all you need is love.
And things will become better naturally and automatically as you leave what was as to embrace and receive what is coming.

Your mind will not leave what it cannot understand, and by not understanding it will become a justification.

Judgement.

All in relation to yourself.

Which is the opposite of freedom.

And that's most deepest and highest most valued desire.

As life, and love is free.

You are not unworthy and guilty for living.

That's the wrong idea.

What you seek is not any idea at all.

Butt a feeling.

What seems like it got worse is to make you aware.
How else would that work in processing to develop and unfold?
Playing the game of love, the challenge of having a human experience.

.. I misspelled authentic in the picture I saw that..

Funny how that works anyway.

/ Leo 'All perfect in spirit yet human nonetheless' Rosenblad